Conviction of Virginia Negro—Gen. Butler—Post of General Position—Rebel Flags, &c.

[Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.

A State Convention of Virginians will meet in this city on Tuesday next, for the purpose of taking action in respect of a Constitution for that State, and for the restoration of the more prominent persons to the rights of citizenship.

Gen. Butler is in this city, and will remain a few days.

Gen. Sheridan has been telegraphed by the War Department to come with several thousand cavalry, including artillery, assembled in the Department of Texas, that he thinks can be spared, to go to Brownsville and if necessary to march and look out if the government establishes a garrison on the Rio Grande frontier.

Upon the request of the Governor General, the pay of the officers belonging to Southern troops, has been stopped by the Paymaster General until they render to the Treasury Department receipts and accounts required of them by law and the army regulations.

Orders have been issued for the mustering out of the Veteran Pennsylvania Reserves, now in the service, and they will be sent to their homes.

Gen. Sheridan has gone for an hour's ride on horseback, and will return to-night.

The Quartermaster General invites sealed proposals for the purchase of brooms by all depots in the Quartermaster's Department at Cincinnati, Louisville, Nashville, New Orleans and Memphis.

THIRD DISPATCH.

Gen. Butler—Gen. Sheridan—Alexandria Convention—Gen. Grant—Reconstruction—Post of General Position—Rebel Flags, &c.

[Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.

Gen. Butler is in town to-day, and will remain a day or two with his family at Queen Square, while awaiting the President's recovery. He had a very cordial interview to-day with the Secretary of War and of the Navy, and was at the Attorney General's office for a few minutes. Gen. Butler's business is not known, but it is supposed to relate to the Virginia Convention.

Gen. Sheridan arrived from the West this morning, and left for Texas, to-night.

Mr. Cobden, of the Post Office Department, left here to-day on a short visit to New York.

SECOND DISPATCH.

All Troops that can be Spared to be Mustered Out—Inspiring Sight.

[From the N. Y. Evening Post.]

The following report of a private meeting of the friends of Jefferson Davis was held yesterday:

An informal meeting of the friends of the fallen was held yesterday pursuant to the following call, viz:

"You are invited to meet with several gentlemen citizens from the South at the office of [illegible] on Thursday, the 27th inst., at 2 o'clock P. M., to consult as to the best means to be taken for the speedy release on bail of Jefferson Davis, now in close confinement in Fortress Monroe."

The gentlemen designated as those accepting the invitation were Mr. Cortlandt Parker, who was present and presided, and

Mr. Parker, in opening the proceedings, said that the meeting was a purely conservative one, and that the only object for which it was convened was to consult together as to the best means to be taken for the speedy release on bail of Jefferson Davis, now in close confinement in Fortress Monroe. He was glad to see so many present, as the liability to be called upon to speak is common among men.

He then introduced Mr. Charles O'Conor, who was received with applause.

Mr. O'Conor said: Mr. Chairman, the most acceptable address of the life of Mr. Lincoln yet in the market. An elegant copy of it was recently presented to Mrs. Lincoln. It corresponds in manner to the smaller edition heretofore noticed by us. Sold only through agents by subscription.

THE CONSPIRACY TRIAL FOR THE MURDER OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN, AND CONSPIRACY TO OVERTHROW THE GOVERNMENT BY THE ASSASSINATION OF ITS PRINCIPAL OFFICERS, before the Military Commission convened in Washington City, D. C., by virtue of Special Orders No. 211, War Department, dated May 6, 1865, and the Subsequent Proceedings and Findings thereupon. Vol. I. 8vo. pp. 600.

The importance of this trial has induced the publishers to place the complete verbatim record of it in permanent and attractive volumes for preservation and reference. It ranks in the front of the great subjects in this country. But for this fact the elegant style in which this volume is printed might be deemed superfluous, but doubtless the public demand will justify it.

PERSONAL.

—Hon. John F. Hartranft, of Pennsylvania, whose name has been much used (and improperly so) in connection with the fate and trial of the conspirators, is likely to be the United States candidate for Surveyor General of Pennsylvania this fall. Gen. Hartranft was Colonel of a gallant regiment in the Army of the Potomac, and has raised another regiment (the 51st) for the war, to succeed this latter as vacancies occur. He was appointed Brevet Brigadier General by Andrew Johnson.

—Mr. George W. Childs, of Philadelphia, the proprietor of the Ledger, has purchased Mr. Dorsey's beautiful residence at Elberon, Long Branch, for $55,000. Mr. Childs is a man of great wealth, and has been very liberal in his donations to benevolent objects. He is also a man of excellent taste, and will make a handsome improvement in the property.

—Mr. Jacob Thompson, late Secretary of the Interior, and Mr. Clement C. Clay, late United States Senator from Alabama, have arrived in Toronto, Canada West, and have taken rooms at the Queen's Hotel.

—Mr. Jefferson Davis, the ex-President of the late Confederacy, is now in Fortress Monroe, Virginia, in close confinement, and will be tried for treason.

—Mr. Alexander H. Stephens, late Vice President of the Confederacy, is now in Fort Warren, Boston harbor, in close confinement, and will be tried for treason.

—Mr. Reagan, late Postmaster General of the Confederacy, is now in Fort Pulaski, Georgia, in close confinement, and will be tried for treason.

—Mr. Benjamin, late Secretary of State of the Confederacy, is now in Fort Lafayette, New York harbor, in close confinement, and will be tried for treason.
